Conclave 2011

What is a Conclave?

A Conclave is a gathering of all of the lodges in what is called a section. The section that you are in is SR-6 and consists of ten lodges. Imagine it as a giant camporee with almost a 1,000 people there!

What is there to do?

Just like a camporee there are many different activities. However, most of these events are Order of the Arrow oriented. There is training, quest games, American Indian Activities, Order of the Arrow ceremony competition, a giant campfire, great food, and much more!

When and where is it?

Each year Conclave is hosted by a different lodge. This year it is hosted by Talligewi Lodge at Camp Crooked Creek in Shepherdsville, Kentucky April 8th–10th.

Registration

To register go to www.registration.oasection6.org.

Trading Post

Be sure to stop by the trading post while you are at Conclave. We have a lot of neat patches, shirts, hats, and much more! You can also pre-order your trading post items online at www.oasection6.org

Activity Overview

Training

Each Saturday morning there are training sessions to allow the youth and adults in the Order to grow and learn. The training is setup in a college setting called SR6 University. After completing the course, participants get a dangle patch to wear on their uniform!

American Indian Activities

Anyone interested in American Indian Activities gather to dance, watch, or train their skills in dancing, drumming, or singing. Everyone is invited to watch and participate if they like.

Quest

Saturday afternoon is when all of the lodges in the section compete against each other in different carnival games. The overall winner with the most points is awarded the Golden Arrow!

Ceremonies

Each year lodges can enter a team to compete in each ceremony. We encourage you and three other members in your lodge to come out and learn and compete!

Campfire

The Conclave is concluded with a section wide campfire. This year the main entertainment will feature a story teller. Other events include AIA dance, funny jokes, and more!

Friday Night Activities

Friday night will feature an xBox tournament, a 101st Scouting cake, branding, carnival games, and much more!
